

v10 and v12: thresholds set only on generic human calibration

Point labels are calibration targets. Fewer human false alarms and more AI recall are better.